

- 1 In 1859 he breathed his last, the year in which Humboldt also expired.
- 2 He served the department of geography of Berlin University for 39 years.
- 3 Subsequently, when the first chair of geography was created in Germany he was given the assignment of geography professorship at the University of Berlin.
- 4 In 1814, Ritter joined the University of Gottingen and studied geography, history, pedagogy (the science of teaching), physics, chemistry, mineralogy and botany.
- 5 He founded the Berlin Geographical Society in 1828.
- 6 He was born in 1779 in the family of a physician. At the university level he opted for Greek and Latin and read history and geography widely.
- 7 Carl Ritter was a German geographer who together with Alexander von Humboldt is thought to be one of the founders of modern geography.
- 8 In 1818, Ritter was appointed as a professor of history at the University of Frankfurt.

2023 수능 특강 영어 18강 - 2 - 문장 배열 [2차]

- 1 If I had told them it was turtle or bird's-nest soup, they would have pronounced it excellent, and their digestion would have been none the worse.

- 2 As good a calf's head as ever wore a coronet, answered Buckland with a smile.

- 3 He challenged his guests to name the chief ingredient, but none guessed correctly.

- 4 See what imagination is, said Buckland.

- 5 They were then horrified to learn that they were eating the remains of an alligator Buckland had dissected earlier in the day.

- 6 Two or three were obliged to make a hasty exit from the room.

- 7 One of the remaining guests ventured to ask if the soup had really been made from the dissected alligator.

- 8 William Buckland, British geologist and paleontologist, once gave a dinner party at which a delicious but unusual soup was served.

2023 수능 특강 영어 18강 - 3 - 문장 배열 [2차]

- 1 The streets were deserted except for a man who was walking with just a blanket thrown over a thin cotton shirt to ward off the bitter cold.
- 2 Paul hurried back to his warm car and he was smiling too and a lot more thankful for all that he was able to spare.
- 3 For some reason, even though he drove past the collection point every day, he just kept forgetting to stop.
- 4 Paul pulled a coat, down vest, and some gloves out of the pile in the backseat to give to the man and, after driving a roundabout course to get through all the one-way streets, finally caught up with him.
- 5 Paul can still see the smile that spread across the man's face, and he thanked Paul.
- 6 One night after his shift had ended at midnight, Paul was driving home through downtown.
- 7 It was the middle of winter and Paul had been driving around for weeks with a backseat full of old clothes to drop off at a local charity.
- 8 Jumping out of the car with the clothes, Paul ran up to him and said, "I hope they fit."

- [illegible]